

Kingsbury, Leek and Whittington Firing Times

Opening statement

As seen in the Security Defence Review, the Army are at heightened readiness due to a new era of threat. This has placed greater demands on the Defence Training Estate across the UK, which is being used for training more regularly and at shorter notice.

As such, the firing time notifications published on Gov.UK have been standardised to show the daily timings for when live-firing is permitted on the UK DTE. This is a change from the previous method of showing when training bookings had been made in advance.

This to ensure safety of all users, as it is not possible to change Gov.UK notifications at short notice. Broadly, the only guaranteed safe times for access are before or after the firing times provided on this page, however there may be exceptional circumstances where extensions have been requested.

If you wish to use the DTE for recreation, please always refer to onsite safety warning signals to understand if the site is safe to access before doing so.

Commented [CS1]: This opening statement must remain as shown.

Commented [CS2]: Please insert the firing times as shown in the Range Standing Orders. Vicky will only need to change the highlighted month on a 4-weekly basis. The timings will remain the same unless you report changes (i.e daylight savings changes).

Thursday: 8.30am to 4.30pm
Friday: 8.30am to 4.30pm
Saturday: 9am to 4.30pm
Sunday: 9am to 4.30pm

Your safety.

#Danger - When warning signals are displayed, regardless of the timings, do not cross the range boundary.
Warning signals are red flags by day and red lamps by night; range boundaries are marked by red and white poles.
Red flags and red lamps indicate that live firing is taking place within the range boundaries.

Do not enter the danger area when in use, this could result in loss of life.

Do not touch any military debris, it may be dangerous. Please note the location and inform a Training Safety Officer (TSO) 01874 635599 or the police.

Site specific notes

Leek Range. No longer active but has a closed impact area that has not been cleared of unexploded ordnance (UXO).

- Clearance operations are conducted at irregular intervals as per the Leek Range standard firing times.

Full details are contained within the Upper Hulme Range byelaws.

Whittington Range. Has a bridle path on the range complex. It is the only right of way available for use by the public. Maps are located at the following locations:

- Beginning of the bridle path near the entrance to Whittington Village.
- The access point in the south of Hopwas Woods at the point of the bridge crossing the canal.

Members of the public must follow the route of the bridle path and not enter the range complex. Full details are contained within the Whittington byelaws. Hopwas Woods and parts of the range may be used by soldiers for dry training, including the use of blank ammunition. Members of the public should stay on the bridleways or recognised tracks and observe any warning signs displayed.
